

New Video Release

We are excited to share our latest video introducing the AI-on-Demand platform—a one-stop solution designed to elevate European AI research and innovation.

Our mission is clear: to create a vibrant ecosystem that upholds the highest standards of quality, trustworthiness, and explainability and where AI excellence thrives across academia and industry.

Find out why
AloD is the perfect match for you
in our new video.

Attention researchers. We need your help!

We want to hear about the challenges you're facing in the AI world.

Your valuable feedback will help us shape the AloD platform and develop better tools, services, and solutions to support AI research and innovation across Europe. The survey is quick, anonymous, and impactful—just 10 minutes of your time can make a big difference.

Farewell to the Networks of Excellence

August marked the conclusion of the ICT-48 projects, which formed the European Networks of Excellence Centres in AI, Data, and Robotics (NoEs) – a cornerstone of the AloD community. While these projects have come to an end, their impact and achievements will continue to inspire and shape the future through new initiatives. To revisit the remarkable work accomplished by these projects, visit Vision4AI.
